

مؤتمرات وندوات زراعية

Potato Expo 2017

Dates: 01/04/2017 to 01/06/2017

Country: USA

City: San Francisco

Categories: Plant Science and Plant Products; Economics; Business and Industry

Thirteenth International Conference on Environmental, Cultural, Economic & Social Sustainability

Dates: 01/19/2017 to 01/20/2017

Country: Brazil

City: Niterio

Categories: Farms and Farming Systems; Economics, Business and Industry; Health and Pathology; Rural and Agricultural Sociology

1st Asian Conference on "Water and Land Management for Food and Livelihood Security"- WLMFLS-2017

Dates: 01/20/2017 to 01/22/2017

Country: India

City: Raipur

Categories: Natural Resources, Earth and Environment

2017 Winter Potato Conference

Dates: 01/30/2017 to 02/01/2017

Country: USA

City: Mount Pleasant

Categories: Plant Science and Plant Products; Economics; Business and Industry

Profitable Meat Marketing Workshops

December 6, 8, 14, or 15, 2016

Binghamton, Penn Yan, Jamestown, or Warsaw, New York

The workshops are geared toward livestock producers wishing to learn more about marketing and product pricing. The workshop will focus on helping farmers learn effective marketing strategies in order to increase profit.

Adapting Farms to Weather Extremes and Climate Uncertainty

December 20, 2016

Participate in this training to learn about developing on-farm solutions for overcoming production, revenue, and stewardship challenges due to weather hazards and a changing climate.

Two-Week Introductory Course in Regenerative Farming

January 4-20, 2017

San Diego, California

The course begins with the soil and educates students in the basic mechanics and philosophy of how to grow food ethically and ecologically using means suitable for urban and small-scale farming or gardening.

Agribusiness Production & Financial Management Course

January 5-6, 2017

Danville, Virginia

Designed especially for limited-resource and veteran farmers, the six-part Agribusiness Production & Financial Management course will allow you to: meet the mandatory USDA/FSA financial and production management borrower training requirements, find resources to help boost farm profitability and income for farm families and local communities, and offer hands-on training to farmers and assist them in developing valuable skills in financial management and crop production.

Southeast Regional Fruit & Vegetable Conference

January 5-8, 2017

Savannah, Georgia

This conference offers more than 80 hours of educational sessions for anyone with an interest in specialty-crop agriculture. Sessions will address food safety, specific commodity production practices, and marketing.

Illiana Vegetable Growers Symposium

January 5, 2017

Schererville, Indiana

Purdue Extension and University of Illinois Extension present this annual educational event with plenary and breakout sessions and a trade show focusing on vegetable production.

Greenhouse IPM Workshop

January 4, 5, or 6, 2017

Manchester, Maine; Durham, New Hampshire; Burlington, Vermont

The Tri-State Greenhouse IPM Program presents the same workshop in three locations. The topic is "Water Worries: Woes and Foes," with sessions on moisture management and preventing water-borne diseases.

Sustainable Food & Farm Conference

January 6-8, 2017

Grass Valley, California

The Sustainable Food & Farm Conference draws more than 500 farmers, ranchers, homesteaders, and foodies to be inspired by internationally acclaimed keynote speakers and local experts in sustainable farming and ranching

Wisconsin School for Beginning Market Growers

January 6-8, 2017

Madison, Wisconsin

This program serves new and beginning farmers seeking to grow and market fresh produce. The program emphasizes organic production methods and direct marketing. Participants will learn about fertility management, greenhouse use, season extension, pest management and equipment needs, and will hear real-world perspectives on the financial and quality-of-life realities of running a small scale farm.

North Carolina Agri-tourism Conference

January 9-10, 2017

Winston-Salem, North Carolina

North Carolina Agritourism Networking Association hosts this 11th annual conference, the largest dedicated agritourism conference in the world

The Farmers Guild Entrepreneurial Intensive

January 9-10, 2017

Grass Valley, California

This two-day series of interactive workshops will provide new and aspiring farmers with a solid introduction to the entrepreneurial skills needed to succeed--a valuable supplement to on-farm experience.

Virginia Association for Biological Farming's Farming Conference

January 10-11, 2017

Hot Springs, Virginia

Virginia Cooperative Extension, Virginia State University and the Virginia Association for Biological Farming present this event featuring practical learning and insights from more than 30 speakers, an exhibit hall packed with useful tools and services, delicious locally sourced meals, and the very best in networking.

UMass Vegetable Winter School

January 10 - February 21, 2017

Grafton, Massachusetts

The University of Massachusetts is rolling out a new workshop series designed specifically for vegetable farm owners, managers and employees, to provide education that will help farmers with regulatory compliance and to improve efficiency and overall farm management

AFBF Annual Convention 2017

January 6-11, 2017

Phoenix, Arizona

Sponsored by the American Farm Bureau Federation, the annual convention covers the business of the national organization, provides informative sessions on agricultural and rural issues and promotes camaraderie with fellow farmers and ranchers.

2017 Topeka Farm Show

January 10-12, 2017

Kansas ExpoCentre, Topeka, Kansas

A primary focus of the Topeka Farm Show is to bring attendees that have a full-time stake in agriculture to meet and visit with exhibiting companies. This year, the event celebrates its 25th anniversary.

Iowa Power Farming Show 2017

January 31-February 2, 2017

Iowa Events Center, Des Moines, Iowa

The Iowa Power Farming Show, the third largest nationwide, features seven acres of displays with 750 brands represented.